

CANDIDATE FOR
ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR OF RESEARCH AND DOCTORAL CONSTITUENCY

Name: Justin L. Wilson

Present Position: Director, McNair Scholars Program

Organization: Cleveland State University

Chapter Affiliate: Case Western Reserve University

Biography: Dr. Justin L. Wilson received his B.S. ('05) in Biology from Howard University, a Ph.D. ('11) in Physiology and Biophysics from Howard University College of Medicine. He is currently the Director of the McNair Scholars Program in the College of Science and Health Professions at Cleveland State University. Prior to joining Cleveland State University in 2017, he was on the faculty at Hampton University ('14-17') and a post-doctoral fellow at the National Institutes of Health (11'-13'). His areas of research interest include health disparities, phosphoproteomics and water regulation, and understanding mechanisms of chronic hypertension. He has served as a reviewer for two journals and a book reviewer for 2 different publishers.